

Halloween Parade

David Rovics

Voice

It was on one af - ter - noon we head - ed down There in the twi - light hour to the cen - ter of town Ev - 'ry - one was gath - ered as the sun be - gan to fade For the an - nu - al ex - cite - ment of the
Hal - lo - ween Pa - rade

There were jack-o'-lanterns lit up on every door
There were ghosts and Avatars and witches by the score
With cauldrons full of lizard stew which they had made
That's what was going down at the Halloween Parade

There was a very pale vampire biting someone's neck
In front of a haunted house where no one dared to trek
Suddenly a headless horseman came and his horse it loudly neighed
That's how the night was going at the Halloween Parade

Someone was walking around in a monkey suit
Lots of kids were roaming with bags and bags of loot
One of them was pulling a dragon she had slayed
She had it up on wheels for the Halloween Parade

Suddenly on the corner where a little ghost was standing
It started floating up like it wasn't planning on landing
It floated above the rooftops and that is where it stayed
It was another day in Bethel on the Halloween Parade